 - b. You can earn 2 CE credits the first time you teach a course, workshop, or seminar relating to veterinary medicine.
3. You do not need to submit CE documentation during the renewal process, but you should retain this documentation for 4 years in case of random audit.

Temporary License:

Temporary Permits are available to graduates of non-AVMA accredited veterinary schools while they complete the ECFVG or PAVE program to practice under the supervision of a fully-licensed Massachusetts veterinarian. Apply using the following application.

1. Temporary permit is valid for six months with the possibility of one renewal.
2. Supervising veterinarian must be licensed for at least 4 years and in good standing.
3. REQUIREMENTS: Must have passed the Board Jurisprudence Exam and the NAVLE and be within 6 months of completing the ECFVG or PAVE.
4. A Board Interview of you and your supervisor will be conducted.

FAQ:

I'm applying for reciprocal licensure, but I didn't take the NAVLE. How do I use my NBE & CCT Scores?

 Applicants for reciprocal licensure may meet the national examination requirement by submitting proof of passage of either the NBE or the CCT if they were licensed prior to 1992. The passing score for both exams in Massachusetts is seventy-five (75).

How do I apply to work under the Tufts University Institutional License?

 Veterinarians who are not otherwise licensed to practice veterinary medicine can practice in conjunction with their full-time employment by a school of veterinary medicine located in Massachusetts that possesses an institutional license. Currently, The Cummings School of Veterinary Medicine at Tufts University is the only such school with an Institutional License. Those who wish to apply to work in this stated capacity must reach out to Tufts directly: TPVMLicense@tufts.edu.
