 - b. 2" by 2" photograph
 - c. Documentation of any other US licenses held

FAQ:

How long does it take to get licensed?

 Once applications are complete, the office staff will issue a license by mail within 3 to 5 business days. You will also receive your licensure information by email, which can be used to practice until the paper license arrives by mail.

What is the Species Specific Exam, and do I need to take it?

 The Species Specific Exam is a test that is administered by the International Council for Veterinary Assessment (ICVA). The exam is only administered to licensees that have not taken the NAVLE or NBE/CCT within 5 years of applying to Nevada and have disciplinary action in another state. Information can be obtained here. Diplomates are not required to take the SSE regardless of when they took the national exam.

How do I sign up for the NAVLE?

 The NAVLE is the national exam for veterinarians that is accepted for Nevada licensure. The test is administered by the ICVA (International Council for Veterinary Assessment), and information can be obtained here.

FAQ Continued:

What qualifies as an “official document?”

 An official document generally means that it is being provided directly from the issuing institution. The following application documents must be official :

1. Transcripts: Must be emailed or mailed directly from the issuing school.
2. Test scores: Must be emailed or mailed directly to the Board office from the test administrators (AAVSB or ICVA).
3. Letters of Good Standing: Must be emailed or mailed directly from the issuing state.
